

Palais Royal Opening.

Paris Hats. - The Palais Royal importations have already received the favorable criticism of leading milliners and the indorsement of the press. The "Opening" continued tomorrow.

One needs to attend a Milline ry "Opening" with proper knowledge of what the new fashions are. Selections can then be made with more confidence. The late displays in New York have proved very instructive. The "Dry Goods Ec onomist," the leading trade journal of New York, gives a review, as

NEW STYLES SHOWN.

The present week the public has seen the first showing of really authoritative fall and winter millinery. Twenty-third street and the adjacent shopping districts of Broadway and Sixth avenue have blossomed out in the most brilliant array of new and charming styles.

To say, as The Economist has said from the beginning of the wholesale season, that this would be a season of brilliant coloring was to put the facts of the case mildly. Superlative terms are none too extravagant when endeavoring to describe the array of new millinery that is now ex-hibited in the show windows and

These shapes are large and long, rather than broad, which is somewhat more in the nature of a radical change in shape than was anticipated at the beginning of the season. Yet if one looks back upon what was shown by the more exclusive milliners during the spring season, it will be remembered that this longer than broad shape was shown by them at that time. Anywhere from three to six inches is the height of the crown shown by those who cater to the bet-ter trade.

Ladies' Suits and Coats for Autumn-Winter.

Opening of 1904-05 Styles.

Sleeves are larger, skirts are fuller. The Palais Royal "Opening" demonstrates the greater chance to procure garments suited to the particular style of the individual, as well as a garment which will not be worn by every one. The "Opening" is also associated with price concessions that cannot be duplicated.

This bad news-ten to twelve instead of 7 to 8 yards are needed for the dresses of today. Another shock-high-bust corsets are coming back, and you need to interview the Palais Royal Corsetiere before deciding on your new dress. And such colors-onion, terra cotta and coque de roche! Anniversary Observed by the Hebrew Churches.

PERIOD OF FASTING

BEGUN AT SUNDOWN LAST EVEN-

sion-All-Day Service.

ING, ENDS THIS EVENING.

The most solemn day in the Jewish calendar, Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement, was generally observed by the Hebrew citizens of Washington today with impressive services in the several Jewish places of worship. The observance began at the setting of the sun yesterday (after a period of fasting which continued twenty-four hours), and will conclude when the sun sinks behind the western horizon this evening.

This festival marks the close of the season of repentance of the members of the race for the year 5665. Many of the bustness men who are affiliated with the several Jewish churches closed their establishments during the day. The services of the Washington Hebrew Congregation in the Eighth Street Temple were particularly impressive, a pretty feature being the many floral remembrances sent to relatives and friends while in attendance at the ceremonies, which will con-tinue from 9 o'clock this morning until sunset. The temple was well filled all day with devotees, and an elaborate program of music was rendered:

The morning services were conducted by Rabbi Louis Stern, who was assisted in the ritualistic work by the full choir. About noon Rabbi Abram Simon began an elo-quent sermon, his text being, "Why Sleep-est Thou?" from the Book of Jonah.

The Rabbi's Address.

Rabbi Simon said the book of Jonah seems to be the most misunderstood book of the Bible, and many people regard it with incredulity. As a matter of fact, Dr. Simon contended, it is one of the greatest of books. He spoke of its relation to the present generation, and drew from its passages many lessons in duty and honesty.

The rabbi cautioned his hearers against hrowing themselves overboard, as Jonah did, and drowning their ancient and holy origin and identity in the great ocean of humanity. Dr. Simon spoke of the expan-sion of the Jews from Jerusalem to all quarters of the globe as a missionary move-ment in the wisdom of God, and said the time had come for the Hebrews to be misionaries indeed sionaries indeed.

"Why sleepest thou, O, Israel?" he exclaimed impassionedly. "Why is it that the modern Jew is asleep when all about him is religious activity? Why cannot we arouse ourselved and perform our duty? The outlook for us is bright, if we but stand firm he our belief and give the glorious message of Israel to the world."

Rabbi Simon said the sending forth of missionaries was nothing new to those of the Jewish faithe A century before the Christian era he claimed, the Jews sent missionaries among the Greeks, the people of Asia Minor and to other places to ple of Asia Minor and to other places to preach and teach the doctrine of Israel. "If duty has been transgressed," he add-ed, "you cannot escape the punishment in this world or hereafter." . In concluding Dr. Simon urged the

The program at the service this forenoon included selections from Goldstein and Schlessinger; hymn of prayer (Stradella), by Mrs. Shir-Cliff; Ti Prezo, (Tino), by Mrs. Shir-Cliff, Mrs. Martin and Mr. McFarland; "I look to Thee" (Tosti), by Mr. McFar-land; "All Praise to Thee," from Lohengrin (Wagner).

At the memorial service this afternoon the program included: "Memorial Service' (Kitziger); "The Lord Reigneth Over All' (Rchwarowka); quintet, "Rest, Spirit, Rest" (Topliff); "Un'sane Tokef" (Blumenthal); duet, "I Trust in Thee" (Squires), alto and

Other Congregations.

Sunrise services of a most impressive nature were held today at the Adath Israel Synagogue and at Odd Fellows' Hall, 7th street, where the meetings of the Russian and Polish Orthodox Hebrews are held. The worshipers wended their way to these places in the dim light of the early morning, and participated in the continuous services which followed, and which included the reading of the biblical history of the Jewish race.

At the temple of the Washington Hebrew Congregation last night the ritualistic service was conducted by Rabbi Louis Stern, the sermon being delivered by Rabbi Abram Simon. The temple was filled to its capacity, and illustrated, the members say, the necessity for a larger house of worship, steps to which end are now being taken. Innumerable candles about the altar gave a pretty candlelight effect, and the musical program included solos, duets and other

Rabbi Julius T. Loeb presided over the services last night and today at the Adath Israel Synagogue. His subject last night was "Union in Israel."

Cantor Reuber Troffman conducted the orthodox services of the Orthodox Russian and Polish Hebrews at Odd Fe.lows' Hall, the attendance in each instance being large.

The value of manufactures exported from the United States in the fiscal year just ended exceeds that of any previous year, and during the months of May, June and July manufactures for the first time in the history of the country exceeded agricultural products in the export trade of

This fact has led the bureau of statistics to a study of the relative growth of manufactures in the principal countries of the world which supply the four billion dollars' worth of manufactures which enter into the international commerce of the world. The chief countries exporting manufactures at the present time are the United Kingdom, Germany, France and the United States. These four countries supply about three-fourths of the manufactures entering the international markets of the world, the total exports of manufactures from these countries being, in round terms, three billion dollars and the total value of manufactures entering the total value of manufactures entering the world's international markets being about four billion dollars. A study, however, of the relative growth of manufactures and of exportation of manufactures in these four countries indicates that the United States is making more rapid gains than any other of the group.

The following shows the increase in exports of domestic manufactures from the United Kingdom, the United States, Germany and France, respectively, from 1880 to 1903:

United Kingdom, $178,055,000, 18.46 per cent; United States, 349,589,614, 339.85 per cent; Germany, $329,647,000; 69.66; France, $66,608,000, 19.64 per cent.
